

This text was adapted from the original text entitled
The Very Busy Spider
by Eric Carle

Sherlock Center on Disabilities
Rhode Island College

!!
The Very Busy Spider

Adapted from the original text, The Very Busy Spider, by Eric Carle

In the morning, the wind blew the spider to the farm

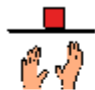

The spider spun a web.

Adapted from the original text, The Very Busy Spider, by Eric Carle

 "Neigh! Neigh!", said the horse.

 "Want to go for a ride?"

 The spider didn't answer.

 The spider was busy spinning the web.

original text, The Very Busy Spider, by Eric Carle

"Moo! Moo!" said the cow.

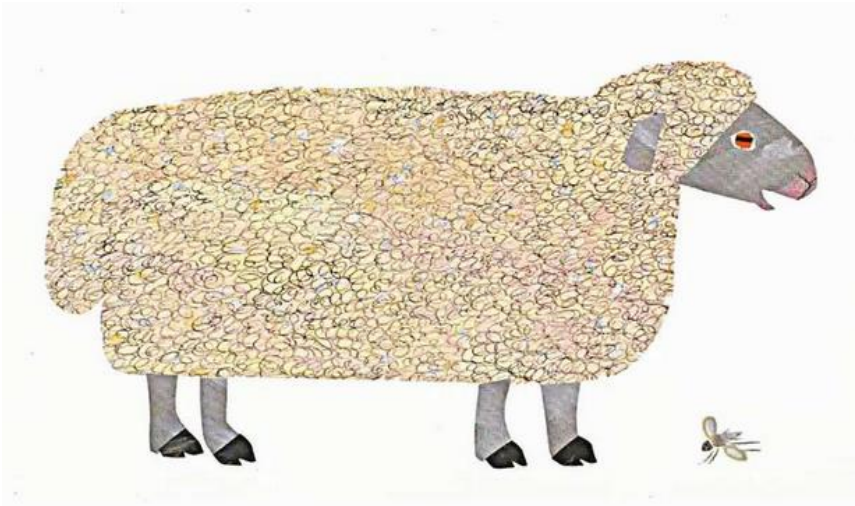

Want to eat grass?

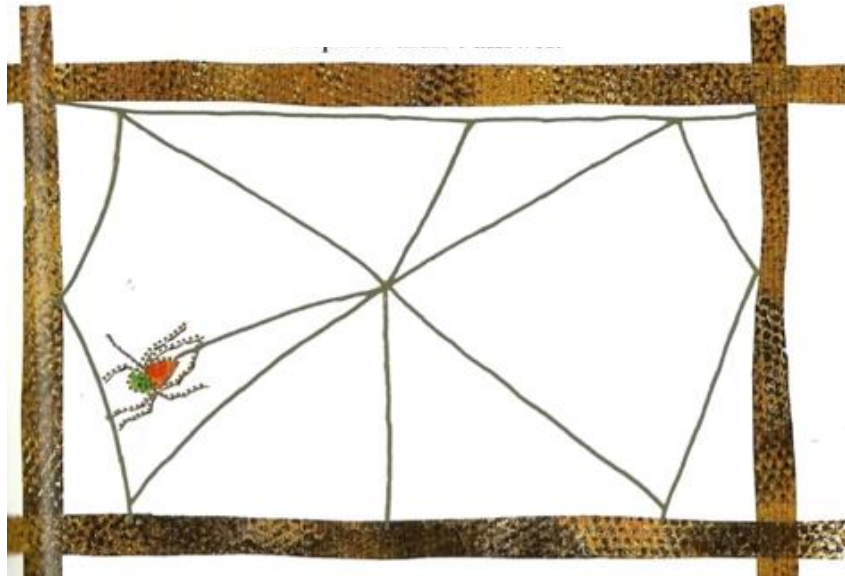

The spider didn't answer.

The spider was busy spinning the web.

 "Baa! Baa!" said the sheep.
 "Want to run in the grass?"

 The spider didn't answer.
 The spider was busy spinning the web.

 "Maa! Maa!" said the goat.

 "Want to jump on the rocks?"

 The spider didn't answer.

 The spider was busy spinning the web.

"Oink! Oink!" said the pig.

"Want to roll in the mud?"

The spider didn't answer.

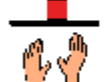

The spider was busy spinning the web.

 "Woof! Woof!" said the dog.

 "Want to chase a cat?"

 The spider didn't answer.

 The spider was busy spinning the web.

Every Busy Spider, by Eric Carle

 "Meow! Meow!" said the cat.

 "Want to nap?"

 The spider didn't answer.

 The spider was busy spinning the web.

Final text, The Very Busy Spider, by Eric Carle

 "Quack! Quack!"  said the  duck.

 "Want  to  swim?"

  does not  answer.

The  spider  finished the  web.

Very Busy Spider, by Eric Carle

"Cock a doodle doo!" said the rooster.

"Want to catch a fly?"

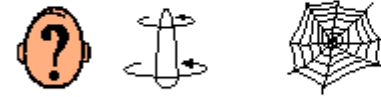

The spider caught the fly in the web.

Busy Spider, by Eric Carle

"Who? Who?" said the owl.

"Who spun the web?"

The spider didn't answer.

The spider was sleeping.

The day was busy.

Very Busy Spider, by Eric Carle