Talking Points
Updates to RI Policies and Procedures – Response to Referral

Confidentiality of Referral Information

FERPA and IDEA Part C confidentiality requirements prohibit the release of information without written consent from a parent/guardian. This directly impacts the release of information to a referral source regarding the status and/or outcome of a referral. See “FERPA/IDEA Regulations Which Apply to Communication with a Referral Source” on page 3 for the specific regulations that govern communication with referral sources.

Without written consent from the parent/guardian, no information pertaining to the status or outcome of a referral can be released to a referral source. The only instance in which an EI agency can contact a referral source without written parent/guardian consent is when the contact information provided for the family is invalid - specifically, when the phone number is disconnected or belongs to someone else, or when mail to the address provided is returned undeliverable. In these cases, it is permissible for an EI provider to communicate this status to the referral source for the purpose of requesting alternative contact information for the family. See “What Can I Share with the Referral Source?” on page 3 for additional examples of when information can/cannot be released to a referral source.

Information can be released when there is written parent/guardian consent. This consent can be obtained in two ways.

1. The referral source obtains written consent at time of referral, allowing Early Intervention to communicate referral results with the referral source, and sends a copy of this consent to EI with the referral. Please note: Written consent forms from other providers are compliant with FERPA and IDEA Part C confidentiality requirements when they:
   - Specify the information that can be disclosed (e.g. referral status, IFSP, etc.)
   - State the purpose of the disclosure (e.g. care coordination, client care)
   - Identify the agency disclosing the information and the agency receiving the information
   - Are signed by the parent/guardian

2. Early Intervention staff obtain written consent during their first visit, allowing them to communicate referral results with the referral source.

Provider Responsibilities – Redisclosure

When Early Intervention releases information to another entity, it is required by FERPA and IDEA Part C that the receiving entity be informed that any redisclosure of the information requires written parent/guardian consent.
Communication with Referral Sources

Two new letters have been created for Early Intervention providers to use when communicating with referral sources. These letters are designed to comply with FERPA and IDEA Part C confidentiality requirements while also communicating the limitations of disclosure without consent. The letters will generate automatically in Welligent and are included at the end of this document for reference (pp. 5-6).

Please note: if a CAPTA referral is received on a 175 form, providers should follow the process specified on that form.

1) Acknowledgment of Referral
   The Acknowledgement of Referral letter is now available in Welligent and must be used by all providers, effective 6/17/2019. This letter serves to confirm that the referral has been received by the Early Intervention provider and explains that further contact about the referral cannot occur unless written consent is obtained.
   - The Acknowledgement of Referral must be sent immediately once a referral is received.
   - Written parental consent is not required to send the Acknowledgement of Referral letter.
   - The Acknowledgement of Referral is only sent to the primary referral source. If a family self-referred, no Acknowledgement of Referral letter is necessary.

2) Response to Referral
   The Response to Referral letter is now available in Welligent and must be used by all providers, effective 6/17/2019. This letter serves to communicate referral status/outcome to the referral source and explains that Early Intervention providers cannot disclose information about referral status when written consent has not been obtained.
   - The Response to Referral letter should be sent within 45 days of the referral date for a completed referral.
   - The kind of information that can be disclosed in the Response to Referral letter will depend upon whether written consent was obtained from the parent/caregiver – follow the steps in the letter and check off the appropriate box(es).
   - The Response to Referral is only sent to the primary referral source. If a family self-referred, no Response to Referral letter is necessary.
   - The use of any previous versions of Referral Response letter template should be discontinued immediately.
Response to Referral Letters & Engagement Challenges

If the contact information provided by the referral source is not valid (phone is disconnected, belongs to someone else, or mail is returned as undeliverable), the referral is considered incomplete. With an incomplete referral, the provider has no way to contact the family. With a referral where information other than contact information is missing (e.g. SSN, insurance number), the referral is still considered complete because valid contact information is provided.

- When the referral is incomplete, EI providers should contact the referral source to inform that the contact information is not valid and to request new contact information. The providers’ attempts to obtain valid contact information for the family do not require written permission from the parent/caregiver. Response to Referral letters are not required for incomplete referrals.
- When a referral is complete, but the family has not responded to outreach, and no consent has been obtained, the ONLY item that can be checked off in the Response to Referral letter is “written consent has not been obtained.”

RIDOH Referral Line

There are two kinds of referrals to Early Intervention from the RIDOH Referral Line.

1. Referrals from pediatricians. When an agency receives a referral from the RIDOH Referral line and the referral has originated from a pediatrician, the referring pediatrician will be identified as the primary referral source. The RIDOH Referral line will be identified in Welligent as a secondary referral source, however only the primary referral source will receive the Acknowledgement of Referral and Response to Referral letters.

2. Parent self-referrals. When an agency receives a referral from the RIDOH Referral Line and the referral has originated from the parent, the parent will be identified as the primary referral source. The RIDOH Referral line will be identified in Welligent as a secondary referral source. The Acknowledgement of Referral and Response to Referral letters are not required when the parent is the referral source.
