

Resources for Achieving Inclusive Excellence at RIC in Fall 2020

Fall 2020 will be different from most semesters. The impact of COVID-19 continues to disrupt our lives and disproportionately affect marginalized communities. The pandemic unveils inequities in healthcare, education, housing, and many other facets of life for people from marginalized backgrounds. LatinX and African American communities are especially affected by this virus.

We at RIC are committed to inclusive excellence, and we are eager to share some resources to help you plan for a new kind of semester that is inclusive for all RIC students. Please click on the links below to learn more about how you can support our mission to achieve inclusive excellence:

Articles

The Single Most Essential Requirement in Designing a Fall Online Course by Cathy Davidson

COVID-19: Racial Equity & Social Justice Resources by Racial Equity Tools

Inclusion, Equity, and Access While Teaching Remotely by RICE University Center for Teaching Excellence

Webinars

Serving Students with Basic Needs Insecurities During the COVID-19 Pandemic by K. Murillo, T. King, J. Williams, F. Harris III, J. L. Wood

Responding to Racial Bias and Microaggressions in the Online Environment by F. Harris III and J. L. Wood

Equity-Minded Student Services in the Online Environment by F. Harris III and J. L. Wood

Employing Equity-Minded and Culturally Affirming Teaching and Learning Practices in Virtual Learning Communities by F. Harris III and J. L. Wood

Series: Racial Equity in Online Environments \(Recordings and Transcripts\) by USC's Center for Urban Education

Talking About Race with Beverly Daniel Tatum and Robin DiAngelo by American Council on Education

You may also visit the webpage for RIC's Office of Community, Equity, and Diversity (CED) Library of Resources here.